

12 said yes.

8 showed up.

I'd paid for 12 chairs.

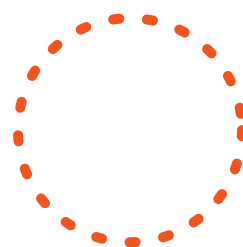

4 fixes inside.

Example, not data.

Why a "yes" isn't enough

Yes

Day

A yes costs one word.

Nothing holds the seat.

Then the week gets busy.

Advice, not a study.

Fix 1: Hold the seat, with a deadline

Held until Thursday 6pm

"Your seat is held until Thursday 6pm. Confirm by then, or I'll offer it on."

You may get fewer yeses.
You'll know which to count on.

Fix 2: Make the day real

Send it the same day
they say yes.

Saturday 9:00, [hall name].

Bring: laptop, ID.

By 4pm you'll [one result].

See you there.

Fix 3: Ask for one word, 2 days before

Your seat is held for Saturday.
Reply YES to keep it.
Can't come? Tell me.

YES

No reply? Ask: still coming?

Fix 4: Keep three names ready

Note who asked after you were full.

Name 1

Name 2

Name 3

Seat free

A seat opened for Saturday.
It's yours if you reply by 6pm.

